

Sinclair Broadcasting's decision to REQUIRE their stations to air an anti-Kerry documentary days before the election is a clear example of the dangers of media consolidation.

Sinclair uses the public airwaves free of charge, and is obligated by law to serve the public interest.

Sinclair's actions show why we need to strengthen media ownership rules, not weaken them. They show why the license renewal process needs to involve more than a returned postcard.

If Sinclair is allowed to broadcast this documentary, then the FCC must demand that they give the opposition equal time.

Thank you.
